The North Carolina Adult Protection Network

Connecting. Informing. Supporting.

Friday Focus

Welcome to this week's Friday Focus, a weekly e-mail where we shine a light on a selection of resources, insights, and tools specifically curated for professionals who work in the field of aging and adult services.

Adult Protection Network Help Desk
Are you encountering challenges in launching or revitalizing your Adult Protection Multidisciplinary Team (MDT)? Perhaps you're unsure about the benefits of MDTs and how they could enhance your work. The North Carolina Adult Protection Network Help Desk, hosted by the UNC School of Government, is here to provide comprehensive support tailored to your needs.

The Help Desk is dedicated to assisting professionals in the field of aging and adult services, particularly those involved in establishing and nurturing MDTs. Our primary objective is to cultivate a supportive environment where members of the adult protection community can access valuable information and guidance.

Across North Carolina, Adult Protection MDTs are at various stages of development. While some counties have fully operational teams, others seek to reignite their efforts, and some are just beginning to organize. Regardless of your county's current status, the Help Desk is committed to extending assistance to all individuals interested in launching, joining, revitalizing, or strengthening an Adult Protection MDT.

There are three convenient ways to connect with the Help Desk:
